Reflection:

The hardest to decide was what I was going to do and how I wanted it to look, and when I finally decided on what to do, I made a few prototypes before finally deciding on this one. Also only using 30 words. I have removed a lot of words and small drawings from my infographic just to simply it.

This shows how much of a perfectionist I actually am and how I like order. It uses sharp angles and straight lines for precision and everything had to pe perfectly aligned. It shows that I like order.
